Congress Tired Of Being Bossed By U. S. Allies

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo.) said today Congress is tired of taking "dictation from our so-called allies."

He made the remark in joining angry congressional reaction to statements in the British House of Commons yesterday that some Americans do not want to settle the Korean War.

Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister and leader of the opposition Labor party, also raised the question whether President Eisenhower or Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is running American foreign policy.

"That's almost an insult," Short said in an interview.

Can't Trust Europe
McCarthy himself said that when he heard of Attlee making such statements, he recalled "the picture of him in Spain reviewing the Communist troops and giving the clenched fist salute." He had an aide bring out a picture of a group standing with raised fists, and said it showed Attlee and Spanish Communist leaders at a review during the civil war.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) said in a separate interview he had returned from Europe convinced the Europeans "would not defend themselves" against a Russian attack.

More British Troops Dispatched To Tense Suez Canal District

LONDON (AP)—Three landing craft loaded with British Royal Marine commandos sailed under secret orders from the Mediterranean command to the Suez Canal zone yesterday.

There was no official announcement of the tough fighters' destination but speculation immediately arose that they would reinforce Britain's Suez garrison. Egypt's Premier, Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, has threatened to oust British forces from the zone with Egyptian blood if necessary.

Unofficial reports from Malta said three Royal Navy destroyers also had been diverted to the canal zone. Naval headquarters on the island declined comment on the reports. The three warships—the Chequers, Chevron and Cheviot—had sailed from Malta Tuesday for a visit to Yugoslavia.

An Army spokesman, announcing the shift of the commandos, said "certain movements of the Royal Marine commandos have been approved as a precautionary measure."

His announcement came shortly after Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons that British soldiers in Egypt have been "ambushed, shot and assaulted" in some 30 attacks since the beginning of April.

Declaring that many of the attacks apparently were carried out with "at least the connivance" of members of the Egyptian armed forces, Lloyd added that "our soldiers have no option but to defend themselves."

Reports from Port Said, at the canal's northern end, said British troops were digging trenches at several points in the zone and have set up tank-supported military guards at certain crossroads.

Senate Will O. K. Freeze Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Capehart (R-Ind.) and Maybank (D-SC) today predicted Senate approval of a bill to permit the President to freeze prices, wages and rents for 90 days in a grave national emergency.

Capehart is chairman of the banking committee, which wrote the bill, and Maybank is the senior Democratic member. Their predictions were made in separate interviews.

Both agreed that the toughest challenge to the committee's measure is an amendment by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.). This would permit the President to slap on the freeze only if Congress had passed a declaration of war or a resolution specifically authorizing the freeze.

Republican Leader Taft of Ohio said he may support Byrd's proposal. Nevertheless, Capehart ventured a prediction the amendment would be beaten.

Supporters of the bill said the amendment would run counter to the main purpose of the freeze, which is to permit the President to move at once to halt panic-induced runaway prices in a war crisis.

Mexican Airlines Menaced By Bombs

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Representatives of more than 20 airlines operating in Mexico planned a special meeting here today to map security measures against bombs being put aboard planes.

Air travel has dropped sharply since an airmail package taken from a plane Saturday exploded at Mazatlan Airport, killing three persons. Another blast occurred in a plane in flight but there were no casualties.

Proposed measures included sterner laws against putting bombs aboard planes and closer checks of planes and cargoes.

Truman Calls For Eisenhower Policy Support

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Democrat Harry S. Truman has asked the nation to back the foreign policy of his Republican successor, President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In his first public address since leaving the White House, Truman told a joint session of the Missouri State Legislature yesterday:

"I sincerely hope and pray that all of us will get behind the President of the United States and back him up in the foreign policy of the United States so that we may keep the peace in the world, for its welfare and for the welfare of future generations."

The 69-year-old former President, who did not mention Eisenhower by name, said the foreign policy is not a partisan job.

In addition to the legislators, an estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons were present.

Higher Corporation Levy May Supplant Excess Profits Tax

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A six-point increase in normal corporation taxes was reported under consideration by the Treasury today as a possible alternative to the expiring excess profits tax.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey arranged to talk with Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Senate's tax-handling finance committee for what may be a preview of the administration's new tax program. Humphrey has said he will lay it before Congress next Tuesday.

In advance of this meeting, another influential senator who asked not to be quoted by name said Treasury studies have indicated it would be necessary to raise the limit on regular corporation levies from the present 52 per cent to 58 per cent to equal the revenue from the excess profits tax.

The latter tax will expire July 1 unless Congress acts before that time to prolong it.

Its expiration and a 10 per cent reduction in individual income taxes scheduled for Jan. 1 would make it more difficult for the Eisenhower administration to balance the budget, a goal it now apparently has put off.

However, any Treasury proposal to jack up regular corporation taxes to make up for the revenue loss is certain to encounter a storm of opposition in Congress.

The excess profits levy reaches about 30 per cent of business firms, with a maximum levy against them of 68 per cent. Other firms not now touched by the excess profits tax would be certain to protest taking over additional burdens.

Sabre Jets Bag Migs In Korea

By MILO FARNETI
SEOUL (AP)—American Sabre jets flying escort for dive-bombing Sabres today shot down two Communist MIGs and damaged a third deep in North Korea.

The fighter-bombers blasted Red troop concentrations north of the Western and Central Fronts. Other Sabres in their dual role slammed explosives at an earth dam below Suichon on the west coast.

On the ground, counterattacking South Koreans won back two small hills near Outpost Texas in a brief early morning fight. The Reds had overrun the outposts on the east-central sector in an 80-man attack shortly after midnight.

Action was limited to light squad and platoon-size probes elsewhere on the 155-mile front.

Spring rains—which had grounded most Allied planes the last few days—cleared during the night.

B-26 bombers hurled 20 tons of bombs on an airfield at Sinmak above the Western Front and a rail yard at Osan on the east coast north of Wonsan.

House Votes To Keep Drafting Doctors For Another Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has voted that the doctor draft should continue for two years to provide the 12,259 physicians and dentists the armed forces say they need in that period.

The bill was passed and sent to the Senate yesterday. It would exempt from the draft physicians, dentists and veterinarians with 21 months active duty since Sept. 16, 1940. Those with 12 months service in that time would be subject to 17 months service. Others would be liable for 24 months.

However, the bill would liberalize the rules for counting some kinds of military service.

Reds Handed New U.N. Blueprint For Armistice In Korea

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR
PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U. N. Command today handed the Communists a new blueprint for an armistice in Korea. It was a sweeping 11-point plan for exchanging prisoners of war, last big roadblock to a truce.

The Allies would free 34,000 North Koreans who refuse to go home and—on certain conditions—give temporary custody of 14,500 balking Chinese to a five-nation commission made up of Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and India.

The Communists called the proposal a "step backward" and said the Allied attitude "threatens the prospects of the whole armistice negotiations."

Reaction Is Sour
The broad plan—a counterproposal to one advanced by the Communists—is based on the long-standing Allied position that no prisoner will be sent home against his will.

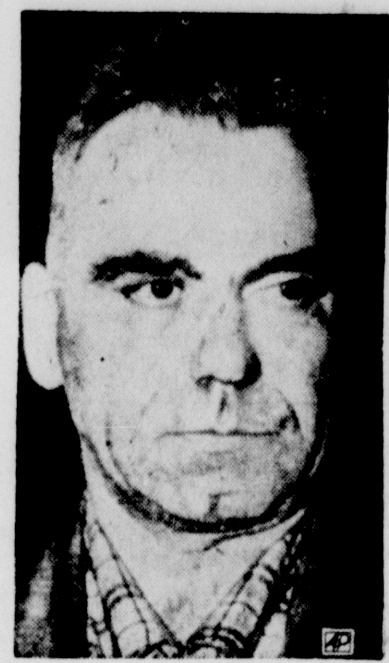

After the lengthy document was read and the Communists commented acidly, the truce negotiations adjourned until 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied delegate, presented the plan to his Communist counterpart, North Korean Gen. Nam Il in a one hour and 40-minute session.

Neutral Group Accepted
Briefly, the Allies proposed:

1. Repatriation of prisoners immediately after an armistice, except those refusing to go home. Releasing to civilian status all prisoners of Korean nationality unwilling to return to Red rule.
2. Conditional acceptance of the Communist nomination of India, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland as a neutral commission.

Winds, Rain And Dust Added To Texas Misery

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Rains and wind slacked off over weather-weary Texas today. The death count from two giant tornadoes Monday climbed to 97 but possibility of more twisters now "expired." Rain-swollen streams threatened some flooding.

Search parties working through the night by floodlight extricated ten more bodies from rubble heaps in downtown Waco. This brought the toll here to 88. Nine were killed by the Monday tornado at San Angelo 200 miles to the west.

Temperature Drops
Snow flurries at Amarillo and Dalhart in the Panhandle early today marked a cold front which chilled most of the state. The temperature dropped to 35 at Amarillo and 33 at Dalhart.

The Weather Bureau said its severe-weather warnings of Tuesday—which said tornadoes were possible over wide areas of Texas Tuesday night—had "expired."

Flood dangers from muddy, swollen waters of the Brazos River appeared past. A crest of 27 feet, only a foot short of the 28-foot flood stage, had been predicted. But the river topped at 26 feet early today and rapidly subsided, falling to a harmless 17.09 foot stage at 7:30 a.m.

Rescuers Discouraged
Tributaries of the Brazos had been swollen as a result of seven-inch rains which preceded and followed the mammoth, freakish silent tornado which crushed two square miles here Monday afternoon.

On this third day since the tornado, rescue workers went on a resigned and discouraged pace. They had little hope of finding any other living persons in the remaining rubble.

The last person brought out of the wreckage alive was a woman found yesterday morning in the R. T. Dennis furniture store.

The last bare hope of finding anyone else alive ended late night when a weary crew, struggling into what had been the basement of the same store—once a five-story building, now a dwindling of gathering opposition.

Chilly Reception Given In Lansing To Business Tax

LANSING (AP)—Cautious coolness and slowly rising opposition today greeted the Senate taxation committee's new tax pet—a business receipts tax.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferdale), chairman of the committee, apparently felt the chill because he promised no attempt would be made to secure Senate action on the bill until Thursday or Friday. He said he wanted all concerned to have a change of study.

Lobbyists for retail business took the first crack at the $40,000,000 annual levy, charging "to the retail and wholesale business, it seems that the great burden of taxation is being heaped upon our segment of business."

The bill would impose a tax of one-half of one per cent on the gross receipts of businesses and professional people over $10,000 a year, with deductions for the cost of materials, wholesale purchases and taxes.

In effect, committee members said, it was a tax on labor costs and profits. It would not be applicable to goods purchased outside of Michigan for resale in the state and, in the case of multi-state businesses, would effect only the portion of business done in Michigan.

The House adopted a "wait and see" attitude, mindful that the Senate must act on the bill first.

In the Senate there were signs of gathering opposition.

Play Bomb Kills Chicago Boy, 8

CHICAGO (AP)—An 8-year-old boy was killed last night by an explosion-hurled steel fragment and the FBI joined the search for a soldier three teen-age boys said supplied them with the explosive.

The victim, Edward J. Voytas, was struck by a piece of steel fence post while walking with his father, Joseph, 34, past Parker High School on the South Side. The father was stunned, but not otherwise injured.

Police Lt. Chris Nielsen said William Barnabee, 17, admitted detonating the demolition charge of pliable, waxy substance on a steel post in the school yard.

Nielsen quoted Barnabee, Andy Kohler, 16, and John Spanos, 15, that they obtained the substance from Mifflin Schaf, a soldier they said is now en route back to Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Barnabee, Kohler and Spanos and two other boys police said were near the scene but apparently were not implicated are being held for an inquest today.

Rivals Elected In Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—Mayor John V. Kenny retained a place on the City Commission in a close-fought municipal election yesterday, but whether this meant his re-election as mayor remained in question.

Kenny and his bitter rival Frank Hague Eggers—two Democratic Goliaths—both were chosen city commissioners in the election in which waterfront crime was the principal issue.

Unofficial totals showed that Kenny carried two of his supporters with him to victory, giving the mayor's forces a 3-2 majority on the five-man commission, which fills the mayor post from among its members. One of Eggers' candidates won with him.

For Eggers, it was a step on the comeback trail from 1949, when a fully Kenny ticket swept Eggers out of office and tore the once-unbeatable Frank Hague Democratic empire into tatters. Eggers is Hague's nephew.

Two Fliers Fall In Lake Ontario

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—An explosion forced the crew of a mothering bomber to jettison a highly secret rocket plane last night, and two airmen fell from 30,000 feet over Lake Ontario.

The chief test pilot of the Bell Aircraft Corp. and another crewman were feared lost. The B50 bomber was carrying the experimental Bell X2, reported capable of flying at speeds well over 1,000 miles an hour.

A widespread search was on today for the two men, but scant hope was held that they survived.

It was reported that the parachute of the test pilot, Jean L. (Skip) Ziegler, 32, did not open.

The other crewman, whom the aircraft firm declined to identify except to say he was a Bell employee, reportedly parachuted from the bomber.

A Bell spokesman said no one was in the X2 when it was dropped into the lake about 15 miles from Rochester.

It was indicated that both men dropped out of the four-engine mother plane which was damaged but landed safely here.

Shipwreck Inquiry Begins; 17 Lost In Lake Superior Gale

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—The case of the sunken lake freighter Henry Steinbrenner moved from the rescue to the investigation stage today.

Amid funeral preparations for nine victims and with 14 survivors safely into port, the Coast Guard set up a gold-brained board of inquiry to look into the Monday tragedy on storm-tossed Lake Superior.

Capt. H. C. Moore, chief of staff of the ninth Coast Guard district at Cleveland, took charge of the probe in the Federal Building here. Assisting him were Capt. George P. Kenney, Commander Stanley W. Burns and Lt. Cmdr. Edward R. Tharp, all of Cleveland.

Also on hand for the hearing were representatives of the Kinsman Transit Co. of Cleveland, operator of the ill-fated 52-year-old ore carrier.

Kinsman, in a report issued late last night, said eight members of the 31-man crew still were unaccounted for. All but one of the nine bodies brought to shore have been identified.

The boats arrived here last night with more victims and survivors.

The D. M. Clemson brought in seven survivors, who were taken to a clinic for examination and four bodies. The D. G. Kerr brought in two dead.

Earlier yesterday Capt. Albert Stiglin and four surviving members of his crew arrived here aboard the big Joseph H. Thompson. Also on that ship was the body of first mate Andrew Kraft of Alpena, Mich., who was hauled out of the icy water alive but died later despite efforts of fellow crewmen to save him by warming him with their bodies.

Karas Concert To Raise Funds For Bandshell

A bandshell for Ludington Park, a project included by the city in Park development plans nearly 20 years ago, will come closer to realization with the first annual Karas Memorial Concert to be held in Wm. Oliver auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 19 and 20.

The concerts are to start at 8 p. m. and all proceeds will go to the city bandshell fund. Public contributions totaling $5,500 have already been turned over to the city to aid in defraying the cost of the structure, estimated to cost $18,000.

The sale of tickets for the concert next week is being pushed by individuals and groups interested in the project to provide Escanaba with a modern bandshell. The Escanaba Women's Club is in charge of ticket sales.

Best In Local Music
Tickets are now on sale at Gust Aspi's, West End Drug Store, City Drug, Marcelle's, Robert's, Vaughan's Bakery Bar, Tommy's Lunch, Hakes Hardware and Norm's Super Market. Tickets may also be obtained at the door the night of the concerts.

The concert program has been arranged by Elie DeDryver, who has included outstanding instrumental and vocal groups and soloists. The variety program ranging from popular to classical music will present "the best in local musical talent."

Groups to appear in the two-hour program are Bay de Noc Barber Shop Chorus, directed by Sam Ham; Escanaba Municipal Band directed by Cecil Collins; Orpheus Choral Club, directed by Mrs. M. H. Garrard; Senior High School Orchestra, directed by Robert S. Meyer and Clara Karas Somers; and the Escanaba String Ensemble.

Tribute To Musician
Soloists will be Mrs. Alfred Gossan, soprano, and Elie DeDryver, cellist.

The Karas Memorial Committee, Roy Pearson, chairman, was organized several years ago to honor the late Frank Karas, Escanaba musician and music teacher, who died July 4, 1948. Karas taught music in Escanaba public schools for 20 years and contributed his time and musical talent to many civic events. For many years he was director of the Escanaba Municipal Band.

Cooperating with the committee the City Council has accepted the funds so far raised for the construction of the proposed bandshell and obtained preliminary designs and cost estimates for the structure from Perkins and Will, Chicago architects who designed the Ludington Park Beachhouse and the city water plant.

State Approves Preliminary Plan For Wells School

WELLS — At the regular meeting of the Wells Township School Board of the Wells school last night, several items of business were discussed.

Preliminary building plans for the new Wells School have been approved by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The Board moved to contact Arntzen and Company for an estimate and plans on a fire exit to be installed in the basement of the Newhall school.

Superintendent Lawrence Klug was authorized to attend a meeting of Upper Peninsula superintendents on child accounting May 21 and 22. The superintendent and two board members plan to attend a conference in Marquette Friday.

Other items of business taken up were the approval of holding the eighth grade picnic. Fire insurance policy for Wells Township schools was discussed with no decision reached. Coal to be purchased for the schools will be put out on bids.

Superintendent Klug received a salary raise based on the increased services demanded by the superintendent's office by the rapid growth of the Wells Township school system.

Mossadegh Backers Boycott Parliament

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Now Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's own supporters are blocking Parliament action. Adopting a favorite opposition tactic, deputies of Mossadegh's National Movement stayed away from yesterday's scheduled session, forcing cancellation of the meeting.

The National Movement representatives staged their boycott in protest against the ouster of one of their members from Parliament Sunday. The member, Ali Roohi, was booted from the chamber by an opposition firebrand, Mehdi Mir-Ashrafi.

The National Movement particularly resented the fact that the Executive Board of the Majlis (parliament's lower house) failed to punish Mir-Ashrafi.

Evelyn Collins, Powers, Selected For Research In Special Education

Mrs. Evelyn R. Collins, director of Special Education at Pinecrest Sanatorium and Powers-Spalding School system, has been invited to cooperate on a United States Research Study of the qualifications and preparation of teachers of exceptional children.

Mrs. Collins has been with Pinecrest and the Powers School system for three years. She has received a special grant to study Projective Methods for the Study of Personality with emphasis on the Rorschach method at the New School of Social Research of New York City during the summer. Mrs. Collins has received recognition for grant because of her unusual insight and understanding of problems. She is a graduate of Michigan State College in Psychology and is working on her Masters in Special Education at the University of Michigan.

One of the most significant single pieces of research regarding the education of exceptional children is that now being undertaken through the United States Office of Education section on exceptional children and youth. In 1951 the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children, Incorporated, of New York City, of which Leonard W. Mayo is director, provided a grant of $25,000 for a study of the qualifications and preparation of teachers of exceptional children.

Important Research
This study is being made through the Office of Education and is being directed by Romaine Mackie, specialist, Schools for the Physically Handicapped, with the aid of the Office of Education Policy Committee and the National Committee composed of leaders in special education from various parts of the United States. It is the function of this committee to assist in developing the study and to suggest people to participate in it.

Teachers in each area of specialization such as the blind, crippled, deaf and special health problems are invited to contribute their opinions. Mrs. Evelyn Collins of Pinecrest has been invited by Miss Mackie and her committee as one of 100 teachers in the nation in the field of special health problems which includes students with cardiac conditions, epilepsy, tuberculosis and below-par or delicate conditions, and also recommended by the State Department as a person qualified to cooperate in completing this study. State and local directors and supervisors together with college personnel are individually being requested to express their reactions and to give time and thought to the study.

The study of the qualifications and preparations of teachers of exceptional children is exceedingly important. It will seek to find through the medium of serious thought by highly trained specialists, what competencies are needed by teachers of the deaf, blind, crippled or those with speech impairments and special health problems etc. And through the medium of teachers themselves, those skills and competencies which the teachers of several types of exceptional children feel are basic to the best educational programs for such children.

As Dr. William M. Cruickshank, President of the Exceptional Children Association states in the December 1952 issue of "Exceptional Children", "It is a privilege to be a part of a study as important to the future of professional education as is that now under way."

Guide to Educator
During the succeeding years there should appear in the literature of professional education a series of statements based upon the study which should markedly strengthen the profession and thus make possible better services to exceptional children. College and university administrators should more freely understand the type of training needed by their professional staffs in special education fields. Commissioners of education should have greater insight into the professional characteristics and training required of state consultants and central office staffs. Local superintendents should have a guide which will assist them in the selection of leaders in special education. College and university will be able to develop more realistic curricula but above all, exceptional children through the nation should have more adequately prepared teachers, should receive better teaching and have more inclusive school experiences thus will be able to assume a position in society which is more nearly in keeping with their abilities as citizens."

Today, according to Commissioner McGrath in the November 1952 issue of "School Life" only about 15 percent of the nation's children needing unusual adjustments in their school programs are receiving special help. Shortage of professional personnel is most crucial. The study has promise for more than four million American school-age children. Approximately two million children have physical handicaps. Others deserving special attention are the mentally gifted, and the children who are maladjusted socially or emotionally.

Press Purchase Plan Discussed

President Charles Folio of the Escanaba Board of Education last night appointed a committee of the Board to meet with a committee of employees of the Escanaba Daily Press to discuss a proposal of the Press employees to purchase the newspaper.

Named to the committee were Dr. Louis Groos, chairman; Dr. Fred Hirm, C. Gust Peterson and Mrs. N. L. Lindquist. The group will meet the Press committee next week.

A committee of the Press employees, Ken Gunderman, Duncan Cameron and C. E. Johnson, with their attorney, Wm. E. Anderson, conferred with the Board last night and with James E. Frost, executor of the John P. Norton estate.

Offered $275,000

The estate was bequeathed to the Board of Education by the late Mr. Norton to establish a scholarship fund in memory of Mr. Norton's wife, Anna.

The employees have offered a price of $275,000 for the newspaper. It was decided at the meeting that the Board will request a legal opinion from the state attorney general regarding the authority of the Board as trustee of the Norton scholarship fund.

Albert Young Scholarship

The Board accepted with thanks a check for $10,000 from Wm. Warrington, executor of the Grace Young estate, for the creation of the Albert J. Young scholarship and a check for $500, also from the Grace Young estate, for crippled children benefits. The gifts were provided in the will of Mrs. Young.

Dr. Louis Groos and Dr. Fred Hirm were named to a committee to work with Supt. John A. Lemmer to purchase bonds with the funds from the Young estate.

The Board also accepted with thanks a letter from the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council announcing the Council's 1953 scholarship gift. The scholarship usually is $300 to be awarded to a deserving high school senior for higher education.

The Board last night approved the method of selecting scholarship recipients as recommended by the faculty scholarship committee.

Many Workers Needed In Area

A shortage of many types of workers is rapidly developing in this area, Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba Office of Michigan Employment Security Commission, said today.

Dixon said the back-to-work movement has accelerated during the past few weeks. The local office has received many orders for additional workers, he declared.

The employment manager advised employers who plan to add workers to their rosters to contact the Commission and list their needs while workers are available.

There are immediate openings in the Escanaba area, according to Dixon, for salespeople, bookkeeper, stenographers, janitor, laundress, cleaning women, regular cooks, second cook, camp cook, waitresses, maids, farm hands, sheet metal workers, painters, meat cutters, rodmans or chainman, piecemakers, power saw operators, tire and auto appliance servicemen.

The office also has a large number of openings for laborers of all types for both regular and temporary jobs, Dixon said.

Interested applicants are asked to come in person to Michigan Employment Security Commission, 1223 Ludington St.

Driver Training Course Likely

Driver training for Escanaba Junior or Senior High School students may be provided by the Escanaba Board of Education as a summer course.

Supt. John A. Lemmer informed the Board last night that about 100 students have indicated a desire to take a summer course in driver training.

The Board approved the tuition fees for two driver instructors to take a special driver training course at Northern Michigan College in June.

If a driver trainer automobile can be secured, it is anticipated that the course will be offered this summer.

Two Land Purchases

The Board last night approved the purchase of two parcels of property in connection with the construction of the new elementary school. The Board purchased a parcel of land 267 feet by 330 feet from John DeGrand and another parcel of land 166 feet by 333 feet from Ed Ryan, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues and between 20th and 21st Streets. Each parcel of land was purchased for $3,500.

Supt. Lemmer advised the Board that Lee Cochran and Howard Kern, of Perkins, and Will, Chicago; Mary Blair, director of special education; and Jane Potts, of the Rehabilitation Division, will be in Escanaba May 27 to discuss plans for the new elementary school.

The Board approved a contract to Conrad Olson, Lake Linden, as an industrial arts teacher to succeed Arthur Ahrens.

Deer Case Heard In Courthouse Today

The jury trial of People vs. Bon Cousineau of Escanaba, who is charged with headlighting deer, began this morning in the Circuit Court of Judge Glenn W. Jackson, and continued into the afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas Chapekis presented the state's case, alleging that Cousineau was attempting to headlight deer when he shone a flashlight out the window of a pickup truck his brother Stanley Cousineau was driving, the night of November 25, 1952.

Cousineau's attorney, Clair J. Hoeft of Gladstone, told the jury his client flashed the light into a dangerous culvert.

The jury included Charles A. Sedenquist, Wells; Violet Baker, Blanche J. Kent, Martha Feller, Alice Kintzger, Hildur Turnquist, Denise Peterson and Alva Kozitzky, all of Escanaba; Ruth Kaukola and Helie Niemi of Masonville; Adolph Lippens, Maple Ridge; and Blanche Pilon, Bark River.

Tale Of Cruelty Bares Reds' Low Regard For Human Lives

PHILIP Deane, correspondent of the London Observer now back in England after nearly three years as a prisoner of the North Koreans, tells his story with remarkably graphic and human touches.

With the curtain drawn so much of the time, we necessarily have to indulge in a great deal of guessing about the nature of the Communist enemy. Deane has taken us behind the curtain for a series of sharp glimpses that eliminate much of the guesswork.

The Communists he speaks of are not fighters but prison guards and commandants, interrogators, and the like. In their behavior toward correspondents, missionaries, diplomatic personnel and G. I.'s, they displayed an elemental cruelty that often descended into bestiality.

But there is no surprise in that. What does strike you more is the way the Reds labored to devise endless indignities and cruel little ironies (like having an American doctor carry a North Korean medical student's instrument tray).

In all these ran the stout thread of calculated contempt, underlined by the wish to humiliate. There was contempt for the prisoners as not merely the conquered enemy, but as non-Communists, as westerners (especially as Americans), and, in this instance, as whites.

Only men who have fanned into fanaticism could be capable of exacting such petty triumphs over weary, sick, enfeebled and helpless humans already bowed in defeat. If these men are the bearers of humanity's cause, as they say, then God help us all should they inherit the globe.

Yet there is high contrast in Deane's sordid tale. Not all the men who suffered Red tortures bore them well. But many, many did. Many died with great courage, the manner of their passing speaking volumes that engulfed the blatant brutality of their murders.

None died with greater credit to himself, his nation and the fraternity of free men than Lt. Cordus H. Thornton, of Dallas, Tex. On a prisoner death march that cost 100 Allied lives, he was singled out because more men had dropped out of his platoon than any other.

The march commandant, a North Korean major called "The Tiger", charged him with disobeying his orders that no one be allowed to drop out. Thornton replied firmly that to have carried the dying would have meant condemning other feeble men into death. The Tiger said he would kill him, and asked if the American Army would not do the same.

Thornton, his voice unwavering, said the Americans would hold a trial. The Tiger held one, on the spot. He shouted to his assembled soldiers: "What must I do?" They chorused: "Kill him. Kill them all."

Said the Tiger: "You have had your trial, a people's trial, people's justice. Now I will kill you." Thornton answered: "In Texas, we call that lynching, not justice." Then the young lieutenant was ordered to turn about. He did, with eyes steady, chin in, shoulders squared, arms straight at his sides. The Tiger bound his eyes, and then shot him the back of the neck. Someone laid his body in a ditch, and the march resumed.

That is the way a hero dies. That is the way a free man humiliates those who act the beast in vain effort to humiliate him.

THOSE 'TYPES'

(Iron Mountain News)

No, madam, we did not deliberately misspell your name.

It was a "typo"—or typographical error, to be specific. And the typo, in case you don't know, is the bane of our existence.

For no matter how hard we try, somewhere between the original copy and the finished product, that "typo" is bound to creep in.

Some day, perhaps, there will be a newspaper 100 per cent free of typos. There may already have been a newspaper 100 per cent free of typos, but we've never seen one. If such there be, it should, in our humble opinion, be preserved as a museum piece, for newspaper editions without typographical errors are scarcer than bilingual parakeets. They just don't happen as a general rule.

Before becoming upset about it (and we urge our proof-readers not to be lulled into carelessness by the following statement) let's look at the newspaper column. Don't start counting, but the average column contains some 10,000 letters and there is a potential error in every letter! And it is surprising how many variations of the same error can be made in the process.

Again, there are eight columns to a page, and we generally run from 10 to 20 pages to the issue. Figure it out for yourself. There are literally millions of chances for error, in some form or other, somewhere along the line. Is it any wonder, then, that a few of them will escape even the keenest eye?

Experience with errors occasionally turns up the oddest and most ironic trick of fate—an error in a correction! And it usually occurs in an item which we have read and re-read to guard against just such a dreadful result. It's that sort of thing that can shatter an entire day in a newspaper shop—particularly when justice requires that we correct an error in a correction.

In truth, the typo is the termite of the newspaper business. It is the "bug" that, if allowed to expand, could undermine the entire structure of the printed word. It is the unseen gremlin that stands forever poised, ready at the flick of an eye to pounce upon the written word and destroy its usefulness forever.

Meanwhile, we keep trying. We keep looking hopefully towards that glorious Utopia when, despite our closest scrutiny of the finished product, we will find no errors at all—not even a misplaced comma or semi-colon.

That will be the day.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—By all odds, the most important conference on the agenda of John Foster Dulles' mid-East trip is that with Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Purpose of the talk will be to build Nehru up as the chief bulwark of Communism in Asia.

So far Nehru, though anti-Communist, has not been an anti-Communist crusader. He has had to govern some 361,000,00 Indians who have strong sympathy with the Chinese, are suspicious of Western "imperialism," and whose standard of living is so near the starvation point that they are a potential breeding ground for Communism.

However, Dulles, in talks with his State Department advisers before he left Washington, worked out the following sales talk for Nehru:

"Today the most important leader in Asia is Mao Tse-Tung, premier of Communist China. But he is such only because no one has challenged his leadership. Asia is looking for another great leader who will show its peoples the non-Communist path to better living. You can and should be that leader."

"If you will assume that role, the United States will give you all the backing it can. If you do not accept it, then southeast Asia, eventually the Middle East, including your own country, are almost certain to go Communist. We hope you will cooperate."

It's believed that Nehru will buy this proposition.

If he does, one of the first American moves will be to send several million bushels of surplus wheat, now being stored in old liberty ships in the Hudson River, to India. Though it will cost the taxpayer a little extra, it's believed that the wheat will bring greater dividends in stopping Asiatic Communism than letting it rust and mildew in storage.

HOPE AND IKE

Bob Hope was kidding the President of the United States at the 28th annual dinner of the White House correspondents the other night. While Ike grinned, Hope told this story:

"I was out at Burning Tree with the President the other day. (I always like to play with the President. Always feel so safe.) Well, the President got all set on the first tee . . . and missed!

"He got all set again," continued Hope, "and missed again."

"At about this time I heard two little ants in the grass say: 'we'd better get up on that ball or we'll get hit.'"

WATCHING OUR WEALTH

There was a time when the American public carefully scrutinized the Interior Department, custodian of the nation's greatest natural wealth. This was true in Taft's day, during the Ballinger investigation, and especially during Harding's day when Secretary of the Interior Fall traded off the oil reserves of the nation.

But during the regimes of honest Harold Ickes and the man he helped train, Oscar Chapman, people pretty much forgot the great wealth protected by the Interior Department.

Today, the Interior Department is coming in for a lot more watching—not because of any dishonesty, but because of a genuine, over-generous tendency to get everything out from under federal control. This could easily lead to serious loss.

The proposal of genial Secretary of Interior McKay to sell the government pilot plant, now making oil out of coal, for a few cents on the dollar is a case in point.

Another is a proposal by the State of California to trade 25,851 acres of state-owned land in California for the same amount of federal-owned land, also in California.

On the surface, nothing would seem wrong about this. However, two interesting facts lurk in the background:

First, the land is to be swapped in order to benefit the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. of California, which wants to run a pipeline bringing natural gas from New Mexico to the San Francisco area. If a pipeline crosses public lands, it must serve as a common carrier for all gas producers, big and little, who want to use it.

Second, and most important, the swapping of land between California and the federal government on an acre-for-acre basis could serve as a precedent for the long-discussed drive to get public lands turned over to the Western states.

Color TV In 1953 Possible, But High Cost Is Handicap

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—It is possible that you'll see television in color before this year ends. But the chances are that you won't see it in your own home for four or five years—unless you are wealthy or run a bar.

The reason for this seeming contradiction is that color TV can't be received on your present set, even with a converter. It means buying a new set. And, even though some manufacturers have pilot production lines in the works, it will be some time before there's more than a trickle coming through.

And that will be a very expensive trickle. The color TV tube is more complicated, hence more costly. The set will need more tubes of all sorts — some say as many as 34. This will mean more complex wiring — some say the circuitry will be doubled.

All these added costs mean, according to the best estimates now available, that somewhere around twice as much as comparable black and white sets.

"There'll be very few below $500, if any," says Richard Hodgson, president of Chromatic Television Laboratories, Inc., makers of a new color TV tube that will probably cost around $75.

An RCA spokesman said the first sets would cost 50 per cent more than present sets, and eventually the cost could come down until they were about 25 per cent above current prices. That is the most optimistic estimate; some set manufacturers privately doubt they can turn out a set under $650.

The story of color TV, then, will probably parallel the history of black-and-white. The first sets will be in bars, clubs and homes of the wealthy. Eventually, the cost will come down and the production will increase enough and home color television will be available. How soon is eventually?

"We'll all be five years older before color TV is really here," says a man high up in CBS.

"It will be five years before we have color as it should be," says Dr. Allen B. DuMont, president of the DuMont Laboratories. "By 'as it should be,' I mean comparable to present black and white in cost and quality."

"Approximately a year after we get FCC approval," said the RCA man, "color receivers will be reaching our distributors for sale to home viewers."

When he talks about FCC approval, the RCA spokesman means approval for a new system of color TV transmission. At present, the only system that has the green light is one pioneered by CBS. But set manufacturers haven't made sets that would receive CBS color, because of its controversial lack of compatibility.

Compatibility is the keystone of present color research. A compatible system is one in which color broadcasts can be received by existing sets in black and white. If CBS color broadcast is aired, your set would get nothing but wavy lines. You'd have to buy an expensive converter to get black and white signals.

The reason is that ordinary black and white TV is received at a rate of 525 lines per second, and CBS color at 405. The new color system, developed by the National Television System Committee, scans at 525 and is, therefore compatible. If the FCC adopts the NTSC system, as it almost surely will, you'll be able to receive colorcasts in black and white on your present set, without any converter at all.

The industry feels that this is the only way of giving color a chance. Sponsors will be able to put on color programs, knowing that the audience will be just as big as it is now for black and white.

Actually, the NTSC system, which was developed largely by RCA, won't mean much additional expense for sponsors or stations. The one item that a station must purchase is the color TV camera.

At present, this is an instrument with three tubes — one for each primary color — but RCA has already built a one-tube camera which, while still unsatisfactory, is undoubtedly a forerunner.

Color television can be transmitted over existing studio equipment, except for the camera. The present transmitter can be used. It can be sent over microwave relays and over the coaxial cable.

TV officials estimate that production of color TV will cost, at the most, five per cent more than black and white. Present costumes and sets are usually in color, anyhow. Make-up will be slightly modified, but no more costly. Lighting will be increased a trifle.

Blue shirts, which substitute for white on present TV, will be out, because they'll photograph blue on color TV. White shirts will be worn, with possibly an off-white or cream preferred to off-white glare. Blonde, blue-eyed actresses will be in demand, since their coloring photographs best.

Old technicolor movies will be colorcast without any problem. So will kodachrome still pictures and slides. Outdoor stuff is still chancy, because lighting is so variable. But TV engineers figure that can be licked with a little experience and, possibly, some camera modifications.

The advantage of color is obvious. This observer witnessed a demonstration of Chromatic's new color receiving tube, the Chromatron, using color slides. One slide, of a garden, was first shown in black and white. When it was switched to color, a dull gray mass in the foreground magically turned into a field of bright red tulips.

Besides time, the only fly in the color ointment is the warning, voiced by some critics of the NTSC system, that it "easily goes out of whack." Engineers are agreed that it has more things that can go wrong, both in transmission and receiving, but there seems to be confidence that most of the bugs will be conquered before it gets FCC approval.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

DISGUSTED LAWYER—The State Bar of Michigan has been accused by Atty. Harvey A. Fischer, corporations lawyer of Detroit, of "apathy and procrastination" on proposed judicial reforms.

Atty. Fischer resigned as chairman of the Bar's committee on judicial selection and tenure and expressed "disgust" with the State Bar commissioners.

While we are not familiar with Atty. Fischer's reasons for resigning and the cause for his "disgust," we do have some information about a situation in Northern Michigan that could have been corrected—if the State Bar of Michigan had acted as it was requested to do by the Delta County Bar Association.

One year ago the Delta Bar opposed splitting the 25th judicial district and called upon the State Bar to study and recommend redistricting of Northern Michigan. This would relieve Judge Glenn W. Jackson of his five-county burden and more equally distribute the work among existing judges.

But at the end of the year there was no study and no recommendation by the State Bar. Perhaps this is an example of the "apathy and procrastination" of which Atty. Fischer speaks.

CLEAN-UP WEEK—Escanaba's paint-up, clean-up week is passed and there was little, if anything, done about it as an event of community importance.

Householders went about their usual spring cleaning in their usual fashion. Toward the close of the week some people, lured outside by the good weather, raked some leaves into the street. This improved the appearance of their yards but made a mess of the street.

What is needed is formal community event to spotlight the purpose of such an observance. We are not suggesting a Clean-Up Week Queen—although Escanaba has crowned many a young lady for a less worthy cause—but let's crown one if it necessary as a publicity stunt.

SMELT FERTILIZER—Escanaba's smelt—some of them at least—are no more than fertilizer, according to Howard W. Gramlich, director of agricultural and forestry development for the Chicago & North Western Railroad.

Gramlich is well known in Escanaba, having spoken to club's and Chamber of Commerce groups several times. Writing in his news letter "The Green and the Gold," Gramlich reports:

"Escanaba is famous for its spring smelt run. In recent weeks smelt at that point have been gathered in such quantities that the market has gone down to a point where many of the small fish are being used as garden fertilizers."

"This certainly is a return to the days when Indians first taught our forefathers how to grow corn by placing a fish beside each hill. Quite a contrast to the present when farmers in northern Illinois and Iowa are putting $20 worth of commercial fertilizer per acre on their corn fields, from which they expect to harvest a hundred bushel crop instead of the few little scrawny ears which were gathered by the Pilgrims."

"Even so, those hardy pioneers were so appreciative that they established Thanksgiving Day."

Editor's note: Although we know of no smelt being used for fertilizer on farms, we do know that quantities of them were taken to the city dump for disposal, where they benefited only a few hungry sea gulls.

SANE AND INSANE—A man at Flint on April 3 threw a switch and started a big cement mixer. That sounds like a normal action—except there was a man inside the mixer and the switch-thrower knew it.

The man inside the mixer was fatally injured and the man who threw the switch said he did it because he "wanted to see it run with a man inside."

Everyone thought the chap with the grisly bump of curiosity must be off his rocker, so they took steps to have him committed to an institution for the feeble minded.

But three psychiatrists examined him and two of them said he was sane and one said he was insane.

Now the man with the itch to switch is to stand trial for manslaughter, which somehow seems an inadequate charge, considering the circumstances.

Of course it is possible the defense will find three or even more psychiatrists who will, at the trial, testify that the defendant is insane after all. Then it will be up to the jury not only to determine whether the man is sane or insane but whether (by inference) the majority of the mental experts knew what they were talking about.

Some young men are finding the old advice about avoiding a draft pretty unhealthy.

An eastern man must pay alimony for 99 years. Those last few payments will set a new high for special delivery.

A college in the south is drilling for oil to help support itself. Everybody is gushing over the financial possibilities.

A dog is a man's best friend—if he belongs to somebody else.

The Doctor Says . . . Tetanus Toxoid Is the Best Weapon to Fight Lockjaw

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a frightening disease which carries with it an extremely high death rate. Fortunately, it can be prevented, however, and today there is little excuse for these deaths to continue.

An antitoxin to combat tetanus has been known for quite a long time. This has undoubtedly been responsible for saving many lives and is quite effective if given on enough after a tetanus-producing injury. But today a still better method is available.

The germ which causes lockjaw is present almost everywhere on the soil and on objects which have come in contact with the earth. For this reason people in certain occupations are much more likely to acquire the disease than others.

Farmers, people who are much around animals, and those who go barefoot, are among those who fall in this group. Soldiers and sailors in combat, of course, are also heavily exposed to infection.

The germs are carried into the tissues by the penetration of a rusty nail or other object. Here, deep in the tissues, the germs grow and produce a toxin or poison which is carried by the blood stream through the body. After the nerves become affected, this toxin cannot be so successfully combated as at the beginning when the toxin is in the blood stream.

The best weapon to combat tetanus is an artificially produced active immunity or resistance to the poisonous toxin in advance of infection. This is created by giving two or three injections of a tetanus toxoid. Toxoid is the toxin which has been specially treated and which causes the human body to produce its own antitoxin.

World War II was the first large-scale conflict in which it was possible to produce this type of resistance to lockjaw by giving all military personnel the injections of toxoid. The results were little short of miraculous and tetanus for the first time in military history became a matter of little medical concern. An astonishingly small number of cases of tetanus occurred in our soldiers and sailors as a result of this measure.

INFANTS GET TOXOID

There is no reason why civilians should not also receive the benefits of tetanus toxoid. All those who are especially liable to infection should receive these injections. In fact, toxoid is often given routinely to infants, frequently combined with diphtheria and whooping cough vaccines.

If someone who has received the toxoid is later injured in such a way as to cause fear of the disease, all that is necessary is to give another injection of the toxoid called a booster dose. The toxoid practically never produces unpleasant reactions and this is another advantage over antitoxin.

Election Bitter In Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (P)—Voters decided today whether to retain Mayor John V. Kenny—whose administration has been marked by disclosures of waterfront crime and corruption—or return Frank Hague Eggers to power.

A victory for Kenny in today's municipal election would be the second over his bitter rival, the nephew of former Mayor Frank Hague, who held Jersey City in a firm political grip for 32 years.

This latest Kenny-Eggers battle was preceded by heated campaigning loaded with charges and countercharges, much of it in connection with the violence-riddled Hudson County waterfront.

Eggers, in his campaign, pointed to recent testimony before the New York State Crime Commission linking Kenny with waterfront racketeers.

Kenny, who termed the testimony "politically motivated," claims he inherited the waterfront problems from the Hague-Eggers era. Hague himself, now 77, kept out of the present battle.

Secretary Durkin Seeks Policy On T-H Revision

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin is still struggling to come up with an administration policy on Taft-Hartley law revision.

Senate Labor Committee hearings have been concluded, but the House Committee hearings are scheduled to go on for a couple weeks more. If Secretary Durkin gets the administration on record about what changes it wants, he will have to do it before the House hearings are adjourned and the committee makes its report.

The first effort to have a tripartite industry-labor-public commission draft a labor policy acceptable to all ended in a complete bust. Under the chairmanship of Cyrus S. Ching, as representative of the public, the commission held one meeting. Labor and industry representatives couldn't agree on procedure. So the commission was allowed to die, without ever making one recommendation.

Democratic members of Congress have been chiding the Eisenhower administration for failing to state exactly what Taft-Hartley amendments it wanted. Secretary Durkin is now trying to fill this gap.

Being a Democrat, however, the secretary is something of a hostage in the Eisenhower cabinet, and he is at a terrible disadvantage. In the meantime, he is holding no press conferences and seeing few reporters.

"Guesses" Living-Cost Future
General Electric's Employee Relations News Letter, circulated among its executives, has come up with a "guess" that after fractional increases in May and June, the cost-of-living index will start a gradual decline—month by month every month—for quite a period.

The letter cautions, however, that the prediction business is a very bad business. The "educated guess" in the foregoing paragraph is offered not as a positive forecast but simply as the best estimate available from an examination of current trends.

The letter estimates that the index high this year will be about 11 percent above the pre-Korea figure, or 2 percent below the peak of last summer.

Bearish Sounds in the Wind
One other significant straw in the industrial winds is U. S. Steel Chairman Ben F. Fairless' statement to stockholders that in case a "wonderful new era of world peace, disarmament and progress" should develop... "America may no longer need, immediately, all the new steel-making capacity that we have built in the past few years; and some of our facilities may be left to stand idle."

In other words, big industry is sounding bearish notes, in spite of Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey's New York speech beginning, "There is no reason to fear peace. We are not headed for a depression."

Test of Price Levels
Steel and oil are the first two basic materials which will provide a test on whether there will be an increase in price levels, now that controls are removed.

U. S. Steel Corp. has already announced increases on carbon hot-rolled bars, cold-finished bars, concrete reinforcing bars, wire and wire products, alloy bars and semifinished steel. These are increases in extras for variations from standard specifications. They do not represent a change in base prices.

But if steel industry is forced to grant much of a wage increase in coming contract-renewal negotiations, this may be used as a justification for increasing base prices.

Pressure for an increase in oil prices comes from statements by producers that "it now takes two feet of drilling to find the same amount of oil that one foot of drilling found in 1948."

Imports of foreign-produced oil, which is cheaper, are now tending to hold down the prices of American-produced oil. That is a main reason why U. S. producers are anxious to restrict oil imports through a higher tariff. With this foreign competition removed, there would be more justification for a price rise on domestic crude oil.

Expensive Speaker
Independent Oregon Sen. Wayne Morse's record-breaking 22-hour speech against giving submerged-land mineral rights to the states filled some 86 pages of the Congressional Record. At $84 a page printing costs, that set the taxpayers back $7200—but it was only a beginning. The next week Morse filled another 46 pages of the Congressional Record with congratulatory telegrams and letters. The printing bill for that was another $3800. Total cost, $11,000—or $500 per hour of speech.

Answers Red Tape Charge
In justification and in answer to charges that there was too much red tape in processing ammunition orders, the Army Ordnance Corps has a statement on how its "Action Offices" work in three headquarters at Washington, the Joliet, Ill., arsenal and the Detroit district ordnance office. The boast is made that the three headquarters complete the procurement cycle "in an average of 113 days."

This is, however, more than four months, which seems like a long time. But the Ordnance Corps explains that a single program may result in hundreds of individual contracts.

25 Laws in 100 Days
The U. S. Senate was in session only 62 days and the House only 54 days in the first 100 days of the Eisenhower administration. It was really 115 days for the lawmakers, however, as Congress convened on Jan. 5. Average "working day" session of the House was only three hours. For the Senate it was five hours, including even the several night sessions on tideland debate.

The amount of work turned out by the Congress was proportionate to the amount of time put in. Only 24 laws in 100 days.

Some of the laws passed in the Senior Class Of Hermansville Back From Field Trip

HERMANVILLE—As a result of nine months of cooperating together when sponsoring school affairs, 16 seniors accompanied by three chaperons enjoyed a four day pleasure trip to Milwaukee and Chicago. The greater part of the time was spent in Chicago. The group returned Tuesday.

Among the various places the students visited were Merchandise Mart, Maxwell Street, Chicago Tribune, Marshall Fields, Lincoln Park, Field Museum, Union Station, WLS Barn Dance, Milwaukee Braves-Chicago Cubs baseball game, Washington Park Zoo, Davidson Theatre. Part of Sunday afternoon was given to the students to visit relatives.

The group headquartered at the Hotel Medford in Milwaukee. Chaperons for the trip were Donald Hill, Jack Gosling, and Bill Whitens, driver of the school bus which took the students.

Activities sponsored by the students during the senior year included several public dances, senior prom, concession stand at high school basketball games and during the Gold Medal Tourney, school yearbook, magazine subscription drive, candy vending machine at school cafeteria, picture sales.

Before planning the trip the students had to present letters from their parents permitting such a venture.

Blinking Lights Curb Accidents

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A traveling salesman who hasn't dented a fender in 20 years has his own highway recipe for avoiding accidents—"flip on your lights in the daytime."

C. Pinky Layton, manufacturer's representative from Charlotte, N. C., explains it this way:

"The primary cause of accidents is not speed or carelessness. The No. 1 reason is a separation of the mind and vision. Lights remedy this situation by snapping people back to alertness. "When people climb into their automobiles," the much-traveled Layton says, "they leave about 99 per cent of themselves somewhere else and try to drive with the 1 per cent they have left."

"They look where they are going, okay—but their minds are back in the kitchen, on the golf course, with a girl friend or planning a party. It's no wonder they have accidents."

To illustrate, Layton asks: "How many times have you been scolded by friends because you looked straight at them on the street and didn't speak?"

Most always you say, "Why, I didn't see you," but the "truth of the matter is that you did see the friend with your eyes, but your vision and eyes were disconnected."

The same principle holds true in driving. Layton says, and he claims blinking car lights—day and night—snaps a dreaming driver back to his traffic senses.

Stowaway Pooch Now Old Seadog Of Navy Carrier

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO (AP)—A fuzzy little puppy with a waggy tail stowed away on the U. S. Navy's famed aircraft carrier Valley Forge one rainy night at Yokosuka and came through his adventure with the prizes and privileges of an old seadog.

The Navy told the pup's tale today: Somehow the little pooch evaded the officer of the deck and the gangway watch and shivered for hours in a dark corner of the hangar deck.

Pup Gets Enlisted

A sympathetic bluejacket whisked him below. After stowing a ration of warm milk, the popped-out pup fell asleep.

His troubles began the next day. Not long after the bugler had roused the flattop's 3,000-man-and-a-dog crew, the ship put out for sea, bound for Korea and the fighting.

The puppy, of Oriental but otherwise undetermined origin, presented a problem all right. Quarantine regulations prohibit the transportation of pets picked up in a foreign port.

While the executive office pondered, the bluejackets went to work. They "enlisted" the pup in naval service, dressed him in a trim, zip-front blue jumper topped with Korean and U. N. campaign ribbons, photographed him and provided an identification card with the name Cuddy.

Back To Shore Duty

Cuddy cut a fine figure of a sailor but his tour aboard the carrier was short-lived. That dog-gone exec found a sailor who was flying to Japan on emergency leave.

So typewritten orders were cut for Cuddy. The sailor and pup boarded a plane and roared down the flight deck. Cuddy made history. He was the first dog to wing off the Valley Forge.

The future looks rosy for Cuddy the combat veteran. His orders assigning him to every sailor's dream of shore duty specified that he should be treated in a manner befitting a month-old puppy with a tour of Korean sea duty and carrier flight time.

In short, Cuddy must be coddled.

Production Controls Expected On Wheat

WASHINGTON — Government production controls on next year's wheat crop looked like a mathematical certainty today.

The Agriculture Department yesterday estimated the winter wheat crop as of May 1 at 729,884,000 bushels. Spring wheat was not estimated, but an average crop is 285 million bushels.

At this rate, the total production of wheat would go over a billion bushels—and officials have said production controls would be required under farm law in 1954 if this year's crop totaled as much as 850 million bushels.

Ex-GI Meets Old German Flame Here

PITTSBURGH (AP)—When Paul Benson was serving with the U. S. Army in Germany he frequently went to Air Force dances at Frankfurt. One of his favorite partners was pretty red-haired Erna Marie Loeblich of Gross-krotzenberg.

Benson came home in 1946 and resumed work with the Naturalization and Immigration Service in Pittsburgh. His job included interviewing applicants for citizenship. Recently he was examining a list of applications and noticed one from Grosskrotzenberg. Benson arranged to handle the interview and asked about Erna.

It wasn't necessary, however, for the Mrs. Davis applying for citizenship turned out to be Erna, now married to a railroad worker and living in Pittsburgh.

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Load-master engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Newspaper Exposes Paris Gas Stations

PARIS (AP)—The garages of Paris have long been notorious for the shellacking they give French motorists.

A Paris newspaper decided to see just how bad the situation was. A reporter, in a car in factory-verified excellent condition, loosened the top screw of his gasoline pump so the car would sputter and stop.

With this obviously simple trouble he visited 10 garages in Paris and the suburbs. Every garage tightened up the screw, but some of them did a lot of other things, too.

Their charges: from 30 cents to nearly $10.

Old Pilots Become Problem To Aviation

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Old airplane pilots don't even fade away. They just keep pushing 'em on through. There now are more than 1,000 civilian pilots in this country past the age of 60. Dr. Ross A. McFarland of Harvard University School of Public Health today told the world meeting of the Aero Medical Association.

Doing Good Job

But the senior fliers still are doing a good job. A study of 60 civilian air crashes shows that pilot aging had nothing to do with the crackups, Dr. McFarland said. These and other findings about increasing numbers of people who accumulate many birthdays but do not grow old brought a proposal from a Los Angeles psychiatrist that a method for determining a person's functional age might be useful to society. Under this way of reckoning, a person might be young at 60 or old at 35.

Dr. McFarland cited tests which show that older persons are less affected by high altitude than youngsters. At 16,000 feet the young ones faint more quickly than their elders, he said. Failing eyesight, Dr. McFarland added, is more of a hazard in automobile driving than in piloting planes.

Memory Below Par

The most obvious difference in the age group, Dr. McFarland said, is that the oldsters cannot remember recent events as well as the young ones.

Of the more than 1,000 men over-60 flying civilian planes, Dr. McFarland reported, 12 are airline pilots, 16 are commercial fliers, and the others operate privately owned planes.

Because of the anomalies in the age picture, Dr. John D. Moriarty, the psychiatrist, proposed that four different things be taken into consideration in determining the effective age of individuals.

First would be the person's age in years. Second, the condition of his arteries, heart, kidneys, liver and other vital organs would be rated. Then his mental level would be thrown in, and finally his emotional age. The average of these, Dr. Moriarty said, might be taken as a pretty good indication of the realistic age of the individual.

System Needs Revising

The existing system for measuring mental age or I.Q. may have to undergo some alteration, the psychiatrist said, because it does not account for fluctuations which mark the differences between the smart youngster of 18 and the mentally alert executive of 50.

By present standards the mental age remains about constant from the chronological age of 16 on. New data indicate, he added, that the intellectual level rises between 16 and 29, stays constant for 10 or 15 years thereafter and then decreases slowly.

Salesmanship Field Has Juicy Openings For June Graduates

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The June graduate is turning down the role of salesman—just when salesmanship is about to play a return engagement on the business stage.

Selling as a career appeals to few of them, according to a number of college placement officers around the country. Tops on the list of jobs the graduates like are engineering, chemistry, accountancy, personnel work and business administration.

The space—ship wonder—lure of the sciences—plus the high starting pay offered in these tight-supply professions—is making it hard for the company needing salesmen to recruit likely beginners. Specialized engineers are in big demand and earn high pay as soon as they doff their caps and gowns.

More Customers Needed

A scouting survey of schools from coast to coast was made by the president of the Vitamin Corporation of America, Morton Dell, whose firm hires and trains beginners in the selling field. He found graduates are interested only in using selling as a stepping-stone to a business management career.

Business is scouting for salesmen now because it feels that the days of the hard sell may be approaching again—that the buyers' market is upon us and good salesmanship will become a prime necessity.

Edell estimates there are six million salesmen, of all types, in the country and he thinks there should be a good many more if the United States is to ward off any post-defense slump. His theory is that when industry is freed of the last materials controls and shortages it can produce new and improved products. The salesmen will have to produce the customers.

Shortage Still Acute

The salesman's job is to sell discontent. That is, he makes people want more and better things. High consumption in turn will mean high employment.

The June graduate, however, apparently aren't being sold in any great numbers on the idea of selling.

A Virginia University placement officer says so many company representatives are busy interviewing graduates that they get in each other's way—and the graduates favor the high-paying jobs of science and technical training.

Although more companies, including retailers, are scouting the universities this year, the shortage of salesman beginners is as acute as the more publicized one of engineers.

UNKNOWN CRITTERS

Although it is fairly safe to assume that there are no so-called sea serpents in the few remaining unexplored parts of the world, in the depths of the sea there may still be gigantic creatures of which we have no knowledge, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Pope said the world's leaders should hold frank discussions as "the first and indispensable condition of peace." He made these remarks at a Vatican audience less than 24 hours after Churchill advocated high level meetings — supposedly meaning himself, President Eisenhower and Premier Malenkov.

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—Television is helping to drive his firm out of business, says Adolf Blunk, president of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company.

He said the firm, which made $20,000 in 1948, has lost money for the past four years—$31,000 last year alone. And one of the reasons he said, is that television fans are not going out to movies and amusement centers at night.

"It's Fun To Save The State Bank Way"

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governor of Her Majesty

VII
QUEEN ELIZABETH was planning her first home at the time when I was planning mine. I had been married just one month when I sat with my husband in Westminster Abbey and saw the little girl I had watched growing to regal womanhood married to the man of her choice.

Through all the pageantry and music I thought of the truest meaning of a wedding—the making of a home.

I remembered the Princess saying to me, as she looked up from a heap of patterns she was studying, "Do you think that the blue or the beige would go better in this room?"

She was speaking then of Sunninghill Park, which not long after was to be burned to the ground. But we often spoke of my own little home, Nottingham Cottage, which was being got ready at the same time.

Opposite the front door of that same cottage was the very door from which Prince Philip stepped out on his wedding morning.

High Cost Appalling
And from my window above I would often see also a figure dressed in gray, with a sort of nun's veil round her head. This was Princess Andrew of Greece, Lord Mountbatten's sister, and the mother of Prince Philip.

Sometimes I would pass her on the walks leading from Kensington Palace as she went out to do her shopping, and I would wish her a good morning. Most often she would smile an answer, but sometimes, probably wrapped in thought, she would not seem to realize anything of her surroundings.

The high cost of everything appalled Princess Elizabeth when she was planning her home. She and Princess Margaret had been brought up to be careful with money. With goods too.

In furnishing her home, Princess Elizabeth was able to draw on stocks of material that her mother, a careful buyer, had accumulated. Much of it had been bought before the war at the British Industries Fairs and other exhibitions.

Nothing that comes to the Royal Family, by purchase or gift, is ever wasted. Everything is labeled and put away, safe from moths and other dangers, and catalogues are kept of all the Royal possessions, so that when anything is needed it may be available at once.

Princess Elizabeth would say to me, "Mummy says she has something that might do for this corner. That will save a little expense anyway."

The Queen was kind to me in this way too. She allowed me to choose several pieces to take to my own first home.

"Have anything you like, Crawfie," she was good enough to say; and I spent many delightful hours assessing the merits of various pieces of furniture in relation to my tiny rooms of the cottage.

In the end I chose a tall combined china cupboard and desk and a mahogany table, among several other things, and these became the most admired pieces in my dining room.

All through my Palace years, when I was moving to and from London, Windsor, and occasionally Balmoral, I was constantly haunted by a desire to have a place of my own; to be able to come down to a kitchen where my cups were laid out, to find my cutlery stacked neatly in a drawer, to eat at my own table.

For years I collected things for a home that did not yet exist. I would search the antique shops in Church Street, Kensington for pieces of china and other articles that appealed to me. To get a bargain was a great thrill.

It gave me a sense of achievement, a feeling that so many pounds or shillings had been saved — forgetting that there had been real need to spend money at all.

I surrounded myself with belongings which gave me, even in the gloomy, impersonal recesses of Buckingham Palace, a feeling of having an individual private life.

But I knew that a cupboard or two full of my own china would never take the place of a real home. So I looked forward to my own, at the same time when Queen Elizabeth was planning hers.

When I did eventually move into Nottingham Cottage I often changed the layout of the furniture in the rooms. In the middle of something else I would suddenly get up and say, "I think that little easy chair would look better on the right of the fireplace."

—and immediately go over and place it there. George, my husband, found this hard to understand, but smiled indulgently.

Council Objects To Switchboard

Objections to the type of switchboard recently installed by General Telephone Company of Michigan here were voiced by members of City Council at a regular meeting Monday night.

William Hood, city attorney pointed out that at a Michigan Public Service Commission hearing here nearly a year ago, called for the purpose of discussing a proposed telephone rate increase, officials of the telephone firm and promised to install at new switchboard equipped with automatic ringing. These promises are a matter of record, he said.

He said he had been informed that the switchboard installed did not contain automatic ringing facilities. Council members also stated the board was not a new one.

Before making objections official, the council decided to invite Hugh Kennedy, telephone company district manager, to attend the next city board meeting and review the various complaints.

Also discussed at the meeting was the advisability of discarding a city hall switchboard and replacing it with the type of telephone service previously used. Orson Livermore, acting city manager, was instructed to confer with telephone company officials regarding the change.

Oppose Site Of River Crossing

Acting on recommendations of the Michigan Department of Health, the City Council at its regular meeting Monday night expressed opposition to the proposed crossing of Indian River above Intake Dam by the Canadian crude oil pipeline.

A letter outlining city objections was ordered dispatched to officials of the pipeline firm.

Route of the pipeline, it was stated, crosses the river several hundred feet above the dam where the city obtains its water supply.

In other actions the council: Accepted the bid of Linderoth Sales and Service for a new tractor-type mower at a price of $375.

Approved an adjustment in the salaries of the city sexton and a city hall office girl, advancing the sexton from $226 to $246 a month and the office girl from $138 to $160 a month.

Ordered cost estimates prepared on a proposed sewer installation on Intake Road.

Took under advisement, pending further study, a request of the Crystal Falls fire department for a contribution to the 59th annual U. P. Firemen's Tournament, scheduled in Crystal Falls Aug. 12, 13 and 14.

Approved the seeking of bids for the sale of two city lots and another small section of city property.

Discussed briefly a study seeking to ascertain reasons for an alleged gas "shortage" in 1951.

Eskymos Host To St. Joe In Thursday Baseball Game

Escanaba's two high school baseball teams tangle in their lone meeting of the season Thursday afternoon at 4 at the city ball diamond, with the Escanaba Eskymos seeking their 24th straight victory against St. Joe.

Coach Jim Rouman will call on his No. 1 moundsman, Fred Boddy, to start against the Trojans. Boddy has hurled three straight wins this season, capping his chores with a 5-0 no-hitter against Ishpeming Monday afternoon.

The veteran southpaw will be opposed by St. Joe's Dick Cass in the hill battle. Cass, also a left-hander, is a junior and the most experienced member of the Trojan mound staff.

Remainder of both lineups will be composed of regulars at all positions. For Escanaba it will be George McFadden behind the plate, Paul Davidson at first, John Peterson at second, Jim Beck at short, Wes Hoes at third, Tippy Larmay in

St. Joe will have Bill Maycunich at catch, Gary Guertin at first, Bill Lancour at second, Bob Sendenburgh at short, Bob Rodman at third, Bob Dubord in left field, Dick Bryson in center and Mike Goymerac in right.

The Trojans enter the game with a record of four wins in six starts this season. They posted a pair of wins Sunday afternoon over Nahma and Marquette Baraga. Their losses were to Stephenson and Bark River. The other two St. Joe wins were notched against Nahma and Gladstone.

Besides Ishpeming, the Escanaba nine has posted wins over Stephenson and Gladstone. The Eskymo victory string extends back to the middle of the 1950 season and Escanaba was undefeated in the 1951 and 1952 campaigns.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

High school baseball pitchers are usually more advanced than the batters, and they have to be. Any prep twirler that gives up a half a dozen hits in a seven-inning ball game is almost sure to see his efforts wasted. What with walks, errors and mental lapses, there is apt to be a steady parade of runs across the plate if he allows a couple of good base knocks.

Nobody is more aware of this than Coach Eldon Keil's Gladstone Braves. Gladstone has made two starts this season and lost them both. But it was no fault of the Gladstone hurler, Tod Butler. Butler allowed the St. Joe Trojans only one safety and lost the opener 3-1. The next time out he limited Escanaba to three hits and lost 1-0.

St. Joe's freshman pitching combination of Gary Paler and John Berrigan came up with a creditable performance last Sunday. The youthful duo worked 16 innings in a doubleheader against Nahma and Baraga Parochial and allowed only three hits between them.

After holding Nahma to two hits in the opener, Paler was keeping score in the nightcap as Berrigan breezed through seven hitless innings. When a Baraga batter broke the spell in the eighth Berrigan nodded his head significantly to Paler, indicating that the pressure was off. But Paler quipped: "That's alright, they hit me too!"

Escanaba's Fred Boddy pitched as nice a game as we've ever seen Monday when he handcuffed the Ishpeming Hematites 4-0 for a no-hit, no-run masterpiece. Boddy didn't walk a man or hit a batter in seven innings. Only two Ishpeming men reached base and neither got past second. The Eskymo southpaw fanned 13 batters and was never in trouble.

Tigers Live Up To Billing In 10-1 Loss To Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like the Detroit Tigers did everything they could to live up to all those bad things the Washington newspapers were saying about them when the Tigers arrived in town.

One paper called the Bengals "the weak sisters of the west." Another called them "the dull mangy Tigers."

But instead of getting stirred up by the insults—as Manager Fred Hutchinson had hoped—they went out last night and played one of the weakest, dullest games of the season. The result was a 10-1 victory for the surging Senators, who now have won five straight.

Garver Is Battered
Ned Garver, who had beaten Washington in his last start was combed for 13 hits and 10 runs before he finally admitted defeat and left the game in the sixth inning. Dick Marlowe and Hal Erickson gave up only one hit each in relief but it was far too late by then.

Big Walt Dropo, who collected two of the Tigers' six hits along with Harvey Kuenn, committed the fielding blunder of the night. He flubbed Nat pitcher Conrad Marrero's squeeze bunt in the second inning. Five runs crossed the plate in that frame and four of them were unearned after that error.

Clyde Vollmer cut loose with a double with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, driving in three runs and finally finished Garver for the night.

Marrero continued his mastery over the Tigers. His sixth victory was his eighth over the Tigers in his four-year major league career and he has lost to them only once. The only time the Tigers could get to the pudge little Cuban was in the first inning. Fred Hatfield walked, went to third on Kuenn's single and scored, after two were out, on Dropo's single.

Besides Dropo and Kuenn, the only batters to hit safely off Marrero were Bob Nieman and Matt Batts.

Hal Newhouse, who has no wins or losses in his record despite several mound appearances this season will face the Senators in another game under the lights tonight. Washington's choice was Frank Shea.

Newhouse pitched four good innings against the New York Yankees his last time out but was forced to retire by a pulled leg muscle.

Hogan Is Absent
The only distinguished absentee, in fact, is Ben Hogan, who skipped it because it's just too much golf for a man whose legs still feel the effects of a near fatal automobile accident four years ago.

Dr. Albert Einstein should be the official scorer.

The players go out in foursomes, with each score matched against that of each of the others in the group. Shifting the foursomes each day, it takes five times around to complete the job.

For instance, the top foursome tomorrow puts together Snead, Boros, Mangrum and Byron Nelson.

Round Robin Scoring
Here's how it works:
Suppose Snead shoots a 69 compared with a 70 for Boros, 71 for Mangrum and 72 for Nelson. Snead picks up one point from Julius, two from Lloyd and three from Byron, giving him a plus score of six.

Boros loses one to Snead but gains one from Mangrum and two from Nelson for a plus two.

Broncs Stretch Win Streak To Four With 24-8 Nod Over Nahma

BARK RIVER—The Bark River Broncos galloped to their fourth straight baseball victory of the current campaign here yesterday, drubbing Nahma's Arrows 18-5 in near-freezing weather.

Coach Paul Wiinikainen's Broncos belted 10 hits and took advantage of seven Nahma errors to stretch their win streak to four. Previous wins were posted over Perkins, twice, and St. Joe.

Wayne Erickson went the route for the Broncos, scattering six hits and walking four while whiffing 14 batters. Duane Popour opened on the mound and was relieved by Bernard Newhouse, third baseman, for Nahma.

Bark River opened their attack with two runs in the first inning and scored in each frame. The Arrows scored twice in the fourth and three times in the sixth.

Jim Greenwood, Bark River shortstop, scored four runs for the Broncos. Vincent, center fielder,

Horse Racers Tie Up Track

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The Hollywood race track remained shut down today and boycotting horsemen were confronted with a threat of cancellation of the entire rich meeting unless their dispute with the track is settled by Friday.

Gov. Warren said he was watching the controversy, which costs the state approximately $125,000 in revenue every day the track remains inactive. The Governor said the state racing board is entrusted with handling the dispute.

Owners and trainers, banded together under the banner of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, are demanding more purse money on a basis of 40 per cent of the track's portion of the parimutuel handle.

The track holds it will go for no percentage system and that its $2,600,000 purse program is the richest in racing history and already $200,000 more than originally approved by the racing board.

Michigan Faces Tough Test In Track, Field

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan was poised today for another try at its track nemesis, Illinois.

The two will tangle in a dual meet here Saturday.

Michigan did well in the Southern Relays and the Penn Relays, winning four titles in each. And last Saturday, the Wolverines crushed Marquette 95-46.

Three Top Runners
However, the Illini, placed by three of the nation's outstanding individual performers, dominated the Drake Relays and scored a spectacular dual meet victory over powerful California.

Few teams can boast such stars as sprinter Willie Williams, half-miler Stacy Siders and hurdler Joey McNulty. Williams has posted a 9.4 in the 100 yard dash with teammate Joe Corley just two-tenths of a second slower. Williams also does the 220 in :21.6. Siders' best time for the 880 has been 1:51.4. And McNulty has been clocked in :14 flat for the high hurdles and :23.5 in the lows.

Nilsson Wolve Star
The Illinois strength, however, does not carry over into the field events, where Michigan's Roland Nilsson is outstanding in the shot and discus.

In the running events, distance star John Ross is set to give Walt Jewsbury a run while Van Bruner and Jim Love will try to test McNulty in the hurdles.

The Wolverines have been runners-up to Illinois in conference meets of the past two years and Michigan's chances in the Big Ten meet may be reflected in the performances here Saturday.

Pair Of Games Sunday Opens Softball Season

The official opening of the Escanaba softball season is scheduled for Sunday night at Memorial Field, weather permitting.

The softball campaign will kick off with a pair of attractive games starting at 7 and 8:15. The booster affairs, annually presented on opening night, will send White Birch against Paper Mill in the opener and Harnischfeger against the Merchants in the windup.

White Birch, last year's American League champion, has added several members of last year's Phil & Ev's team. Paper Mill is expected to unveil a brand new battery for the opener.

The Merchants are last year's Dells, Upper Peninsula Class A champion. The team has been strengthened by the addition of Bob and Tom Dufour and Angie Hirn.

Harnischfeger has picked up some new players, but the biggest addition is to the mound staff. John Pieropon, former Carney Blackhawk and Dells twirler, has joined the Harnie mound corps.

Softball league officials announced that if weather is inclement Sunday night the opener will be postponed to Sunday, May 24. Regular League action is also slated to get under way starting Monday if the weather is normal.

12 Teams To Compete In Regional Track, Field Meet Saturday

Twelve high schools, representing two classes, will take part in the Upper Peninsula regional track and field meet at the Escanaba athletic field Saturday.

Competing in Class B will be Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Menominee and Stephenson. Class D-E competitors will be Alpha, Carney, Cooks, Bark River, Hermansville, Nahma and Rapid River.

Other sites for the regional meets in the U. P. Saturday are Marquette (Classes B, C and D-E), Wakefield (Classes B and C), and Houghton (Classes C and D-E).

Trackmen will be competing in the regionals for the right to enter the Upper Peninsula finals meet to be held at Marquette Northern May 23.

Escanaba meet manager George Ruwittch today listed the following officials for the regional here Saturday:

Dick Schram, referee; William Puckelwartz, starter; Clarence Zerbe, clerk of course; Vernon Hlenfeldt, head timer; Oliver Koski, chief judge of finish; Burt Gustafson, chief inspector; Allan Mathison and Ben Page, expeditors.

Tony Cucinello, coach for the Cleveland Indians, played 16 years in the major leagues as an infielder.

Monmouth Park ranked fifth among all race tracks in the nation in total purse distribution in 1952. The course dispersed $1,786,645 for a daily average of $36,308.

Tom Yewcic Is Thorn In Michigan's Side

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There are few sharper thorns currently sticking in the Michigan athletic sides than Tom Yewcic, Michigan State's fine all-around performer.

Moving Day In Major Leagues

NEW YORK (AP)—This is moving day for 18 players on 10 major league baseball clubs as the teams trim their rosters to the 26-man limit called for by midnight tonight.

There was a flurry of shifting yesterday as teams approached the deadline. Some said they would wait until after today's games before making final decisions.

The voluntary retirement of Dom DiMaggio, Boston Red Sox outfielder, and last of the three DiMaggio brothers to play in the big leagues, helped Manager Lou Boudreau make up his mind.

The Red Sox sent southpaw relief hurler Bill Werle to the Boston farm at Louisville on option. Two more must be trimmed by tonight.

Johnny Schmitz, 32-year-old New York Yankee lefthander was sent to the Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price.

The Senators, in turn, sold pitcher Sandialo Consuegra to the Chicago White Sox a few hours after the Pale Hose had obtained outfielder Allie Clark from the Philadelphia Athletics.

Chicago and the A's must trim away two players, the Senators one, the Yankees three, the St. Louis Browns two. The Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers are all set.

Four teams in the national league are within the limit, but the Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals each must drop one player. The Pittsburgh Pirates must cut away three players.

Solly Hemus Is Top Fielding Shortstop

New York (AP)—Shortstop Solly Hemus of the St. Louis Cardinals, in 20 games this season, has accepted 88 chances without an error for a perfect fielding average. He is the only regular major league shortstop who has yet to err, statistics compiled by The Associated Press revealed today.

Rookies Bill Hunter of the St. Louis Browns and Milt Bolling of the Boston Red Sox are tied for shortstop's fielding honors in the American League, each with a .982 mark.

Ford Of Yanks, Buhl Of Braves Star

Pitchers Steal Spotlight

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Whitey Ford, a cocky New York Yankee left-hander, and Bob Buhl, Milwaukee rookie making his first major league start, have joined the growing list of young pitchers who are out to prove that today's baseball isn't as lively as some folks claim.

Last month home runs were flying in all directions, but in the past week it's been a different story.

A week ago tonight Bobo Holloman of the St. Louis Browns tossed a no-hitter. Sunday afternoon Don Liddle of Milwaukee broke in as a starter with a two-hitter, and Bob Porterfield of Washington threw a one-hitter. Last night Ford baffled the Cleveland Indians on one hit—a slow rolling grounder that never got as far as third base. And Buhl, another Braves' first-year man, mastered the New York Giants on two hits.

Yanks Stretch Lead
Ford won his game, 7-0, giving the Yankees a comfortable two-game bulge over the second-place Indians. Buhl lost his shutout in the ninth, but still triumphed easily, 8-1.

The Yankee victory was a masterpiece by Ford, who, back in the big leagues after a two-year Army hitch, has a phenomenal record—12 major league starts and 12 major league victories. The only time he has been beaten was in relief against Philadelphia in 1950.

"That was my best one," he said after last night's game. "I've never pitched a one-hitter before. As long as the hit had to come I'm glad it came that early. I don't know if I would have been able to stand the tension."

"Sure I knew I had a no-hitter going. I always look at the scoreboard. When Early Wynn topped that ball I just couldn't get to it. I said to myself, 'Well, there goes the no-hitter.'"

Wynn, who was opposing Ford on the mound, just got his bat on a 3 and 2 pitch in the sixth inning and dribbled it between the mound and third base. Ford charged in along with third baseman Gil McDougald. When he saw Ford couldn't make it, McDougald made a stab for the ball but couldn't find the handle. The official scorer called it a hit on the theory that Wynn would have beaten any throw McDougald could have made even if he came up with the ball.

Buhl, working in 40-degree temperatures with a brisk wind, gave single to Don Mueller in the fourth inning and a short double to Bobby Thomson at the start of the ninth.

He went on to load the bases on walks in the ninth and Thomson scored the lone New York run after an outfield fly by Daryl Spencer.

The Philadelphia Phillies took over the lead in the National League by edging the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, after Brooklyn had lost the only daylight contest, 6-4.

Fondy's 11th-inning home run, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were rained out at Cincinnati after 2 1/2 innings with the Pirates leading, 5-1.

Holloman Gets Blister
Holloman, making his first appearance since tossing his no-hitter, couldn't come close to matching that success. He gave up two runs and lasted less than two innings at Philadelphia before he retired with a blistered finger on his pitching hand.

Don Larsen took over for the Browns and they went on to whip the Athletics, 7-3.

Washington won its fifth in a row, 10-1, over Detroit, and Chicago won an uphill battle at Boston, 9-7, in 10 innings.

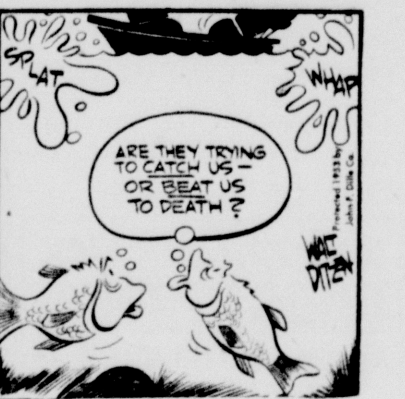

After leading twice the White Sox went ahead to stay in the 10th when Ferris Fain doubled with the bases loaded to score two runs. The victory left Chicago only nine percentage points back of second-place Cleveland.

Ned Garver, who had shown marked improvement for Detroit after losing his first three starts, was battered by the Senators for 13 hits and all of their 10 runs in less than six innings.

The Phillies and Cardinals were locked in a 1-1 tie until the ninth inning. Then the Phils exploded for five runs and the Cards came back with four on home runs by Steve Bilko and Solly Hemus.

Dom, Last Of DiMaggios, Hangs Up Baseball Glove

BOSTON — Modern baseball's greatest brother combination—the three center-fielding DiMaggios—were united on the sidelines today as a result of 35-year-old Dom's voluntary retirement after 10 seasons as a Boston Red Sox star.

The last of the Red Sox' 1946 pennant winners, Dom DiMaggio announced last night he had decided to follow the examples set by brothers Joe, one of the New York Yankees' greatest, and Vince who played for the Boston Braves, in seeking new means of livelihood. In a formal statement, Dom, while stressing the fact that his vision "is better than 20-20 in both eyes," with the thick spectacles he has worn during all of his career, explained that he could play at least one more season of good baseball but preferred to give up the game entirely, rather than be a hanger-on.

Had Eyes Treated
Several weeks before he was due at the Sarasota, Fla., training camp, Dom entered a Boston hospital for eye treatment. He was late reporting and when he did, found rookie Tom Umpshett holding down his fly-chasing berth.

"My arm feels great, my legs are good and my eyes are okay and I was ready to play the opening game," Dom explained. "I don't resent Umpshett or the other young outfielders, Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens. They are very promising and in a couple of years they may be great. But I just can't stand being a hanger-on."

After paying high tribute to Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey and General Manager Joe Cronin in his retirement statement which ignored Manager Lou Boudreau, Dom indicated he would be willing to rejoin the club if his services were needed. But, under baseball law, he would not be permitted to return to action for at least 60 days.

No Surprise To Lou
Dom's decision did not surprise Boudreau.

"I knew he was considering retirement two weeks ago, when he notified Joe Cronin of his plans. But he didn't say anything to me and I have no comment to make," Boudreau said.

Cronin explained that Dom had wanted to delay his retirement until May 31.

"I called Dom in yesterday and asked him why he specified May 31 and he told me he didn't want to make another Western trip," Cronin explained. "I tried to change his mind and when he refused, I asked him to retire before the May 13 deadline."

Walcott Says He'll Shoot For Knockout

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO — Now comes Jersey Joe Walcott with heavy talk about punching the daylight out of Rocky Marciano.

Says Jersey Joe: "I will do my best to win by a knockout, from the first round on."

He didn't bat an eye when he said it. He merely shrugged when it was pointed out that the statement seemed a contradiction of his long training routine.

Virtually every minute of Walcott's preparation for Friday's heavyweight title bout with Champion Marciano at Chicago Stadium has carried a strong-for-the-route conditioning keynote.

Manager Says Different
Furthermore, his manager, Felix Bocchicchio, has said:

"Marciano is too strong and tough to knock out early. Jersey must outbox him this time."

There hasn't been much question that, of the two, Walcott is the better boxer. He's harder to hit and, for a 39-year-old (or older) man, his timing is excellent.

He also is a better than average slugger, as witness his first-round knockdown of the previously unfloored Marciano in their championship fight in Philadelphia last summer, won by Rocky with a come-from-behind 13th-round knockout. Jersey Joe also has had Joe Louis on the floor three times and won the heavyweight title from Ezzard Charles with a KO.

But fight experts note that slugging with the young and powerful Marciano is a dangerous business. They figure Jersey Joe would have won the Philadelphia match had he been more cautious.

Marciano Set For KO

Nonetheless, Walcott maintained to reporters last night that he is capable of blasting Rocky out from under the heavyweight crown.

"I'm ready to go 15 rounds," he said, "but I don't intend to try for a decision. I will do my best to win by a knockout."

As for Marciano, he never has contradicted by word or action his intention, announced at the start of training, to KO Jersey Joe "earlier than before."

Yesterday he said at his Holland, Mich., camp that he expected to end the bout "about midway." He has boxed 225 rounds in preparation for the fight, mostly perfecting sharper, shorter swings and developing his pressing, brawling, close-in style.

Today he leaves Holland for Chicago and, like Jersey Joe, will hide out during the remaining hours before the battle at 9 p.m., EST, Friday.

Crippled Star Tells How She Found Faith

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Marjorie Rambeau, vivacious star of 50 years on the stage and screen, today told how she found faith after a highway accident that nearly cost her life.

A chance meeting with Western stars Roy Rogers and Dale Evans changed the course of her life, said the actress, who will be 64 next month.

Accident In 1945

The story begins in 1945, when the successful character actress was driving home from work with her sister. A truck smashed into their car, then drove away. The sister was killed. Miss Rambeau's face was slashed and her leg was crushed. The driver of the truck was never identified.

Plastic surgery restored her famous face. Many months later, she managed to return to acting with the aid of a cane. But she had no hip socket, and her leg began getting shorter. A year and a half ago, she began a series of three operations to arrest this condition. During one seven-hour session, she was on the operating table so long that the surgeon fainted.

"I was feeling pretty low after the operations," she related, "then one night I went to a birthday party at Jack Oakie's house. Dinner was late, and I ate too fast. I fainted dead away. It scared everyone, and they took me to a bedroom and sent for my doctor."

Never Had Time

"After the doctor left, Roy and Dale came in. I had just met them casually, and we talked for a while. They asked if I would like to attend a meeting of the Hollywood Christian Group. I hesitated. Although I had always been assured before the footlights, I had always been shy about meeting strangers. But I said I would come."

The Hollywood Christian Group is composed of film workers like the Rogers, Jane Russell, Colleen Townsend, Connie Haines and Porter Hall. They meet each Monday night to discuss religion and listen to ministers, rabbis and other religious leaders. Miss Rambeau said she has never missed a meeting since she first started attending.

"I never had time for such religious training," she said. "When I was 13, I was playing 'Camille' in Portland, Ore.—the youngest leading woman in the American theater. I never had time to go to church, because I always had a matinee and evening performance on Sunday. I was not a disbeliever; but when I talked to God I was usually angry about something."

Back At Work

"But now I have found that Christ is my guide. It has brought me a spiritual happiness that I have never known before in my life. If I had to go through the agony of the last eight years again in order to find God, I would gladly do so—and I'm not being a Pollyanna about this."

Miss Rambeau is again at work in the studios. By a typical Hollywood quirk, I saw her just after she stepped off an operating table for a scene in "Scalpel." She joked to surgeon Charlton Heston: "I just want you to remove some of the bad parts I've had in my lifetime."

The actress, whose natural beauty has a soft quality with the years, said she noticed a new attitude among film workers.

"I have never seen so much receptivity to faith among show people," she remarked. "You don't even hear so much as a 'damn' on a movie set. The people show a kindness and courtesy that I haven't seen before."

"It wasn't like that in the old days. Everyone was stabbing each other in the back, and it paid to get there first with the knife and sharpening set."

Miss Rambeau now gets around on crutches, and film parts are written for her accordingly. She may face another operation, which could determine whether she will walk again.

"I can't be sorry if I don't walk," she said. "I'm able to get around pretty well, and I've had a long and enjoyable career. Besides, I couldn't be happier than I have been since I found God."

One-Day Walkout

PARIS — Paris bus and subway workers belonging to the Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor voted to stage a one-day walkout today. Non-Communist unions refused to take part in the strike plan.

Atom-Bombed Cattle Have No Ill Effects

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — Remember those cattle which absorbed often deadly radioactive dust from the first atomic bomb explosion in New Mexico?

Scientists here have concluded that they suffered no ill effects and any radiation, like beauty, was only skin deep. The first A-bomb was exploded in the Southern New Mexico desert near Alamogordo July 16, 1945.

Nobody knows how the cattle—originally 58 Herefords—sneaked into the security area. They have been under study for the past seven years.
